

GRASSLAND ECOSYSTEM

- A grassland ecosystem consists of herbaceous animals and grasses.

- Mainly found in temperate regions.
- Is a part of the terrestrial ecosystem

Country or continent name

North America

Eurasia

Hungary

Australia

South Africa

South America

Europe & Asia

Argentina

Grassland ecosystem name

Prairies

Steppe

Pustaz

Downs

Veld

Selvas

Taiga

Pampas

Types of grassland ecosystem

Tropical grassland ecosystem

Temperate grassland ecosystem

Polar grassland ecosystem

Importance of grassland ecosystem

- These grassland ecosystems cover about 20% of the entire earth.
- This ecosystem provides a large amount of energy to the environment.
- The soil is very fertile which is suitable for croplands or pastures.
- This ecosystem maintains rich biodiversity.